Thank you for the reply!

No, I didn't start with interviews, the week I was supposed to do that, we went into a lockdown. I will get back when I have more information.

Thank you again!

Hello Nina. If you plan to conduct the research at a later stage, you can update the form accordingly to get a new assessment. I recommend that you update the information letters as well, as long as the interviews have not started yet.

It should be possible to conduct the interviews online. I advice you consult with your institution to find out what service you need to use. Uninett supplies a secure version of Zoom that I know is be used by some institutions, so you can look into that as a possibility.

Generally I advice you wait in terms of doing changes in the form, until you know if and when you can conduct the interviews. It will then be easier to update the form and notification letters accordingly. Feel free to send me a message here in the dialogue when you know more, and I will be happy to help with updating the form.

Dear colleagues, due to the corona virus situation, and the consequent lock down of the campus, I was not able to conduct my research. As I was hoping the data collection will be over by the end of May, and this is now most definitely not going to happen, I was wondering what the steps are to ask for the extension/ continuation of the research? I would then ask for another year, because for this particular research, I will need to be able to interview students, and I was hoping that would be possible from August. However, the indication is that teaching will be online then as well, so getting to students might be more difficult. If there is a possibility for me to conduct interviews via skype/ teams/ zoom, what are the formal steps to take?

I apologize for all the questions, just, this is an unprecedented situation, so I would like to know my options, so that I can prepare better.

Thank you for your time and assistance!
